Hayes calls time after over two decades

Brennan Ryan

A significant chapter in the history of Tasmanian greyhound racing concluded in May with the retirement of esteemed greyhound administrator Peter Hayes. This marked the end of his extraordinary two-decade career devoted to his beloved sport and its community.

Highly respected by his peers and the racing community, Hayes finished his tenure as Racing Operations Officer for Tasracing on Thursday, 15 May, after dedicating countless hours travelling between meetings for the three greyhound clubs each week.

Peter's dedication grew into a passion for greyhounds over the years. During his teenage years, he spent most Saturday evenings at the TCA.

When the "job of a lifetime," as he describes it, became available, the opportunity was irresistible. This led to a fulfilling career, many memories, and the racing world gained an exceptional contributor who will leave a significant gap that will be hard to fill.

"It's been amazing. I've been lucky to have just two jobs in 46 years, and this one has been the longest and most enjoyable," Peter said.

"Working with greyhounds, as well as trainers, owners, handlers, catchers, and committees, starting as the HGRC manager in the beginning and progressing through the Tasmanian Greyhound Racing Council, Tote Tasmania, and finally to Tasracing, it was quite a journey.

"My relaxed attitude has helped me connect with people over the years, but that wouldn't be possible without genuine passion for the job."

Working as an accountant, Peter worked for the Reserve Bank from 1978 until Westpac gained the state government banking business, which saw the closure of the Hobart branch in 1998. Faced with the choice of relocating or remaining in Tasmania, he chose to stay.

Fortunately, his decision led him to become the manager of the Hobart Greyhound Racing in 1999, a career role he fully embraced.

"At first, I didn't land the job with Hobart right away, but they reached out to me, and things took off from there," Hayes fondly recalled.

"Everything used to be done manually back then, from writing out the kennel tickets to preparing the stakes envelopes and handing out the prize money after each race, which people would collect. I was everyone's favourite person, though now it's all switched to bank deposits.

Peter was present during key moments in the industry, such as Launceston's move from White City to Mowbray Racecourse and Hobart's shift from the Royal Showgrounds to Elwick Racecourse. Challenging times but crucial steps for progress to help the sport move forward.

He also enjoyed helping to organise the National Championships, which the state hosted, along with other prominent key feature race days.

Over the years, the clubs held many promotions, but none were as famous or successful as the People's Mercury giveaway dog and its success.

"There were plenty of challenges with both clubs relocating to new facilities, and many groups had to be managed throughout," Peter said.

"I've really missed being with my family, especially around the public holidays, but now I can finally unwind, relax, and step back."

"It wasn't easy, but the clubs have now moved to better facilities that are easier to maintain, even if the racing experiences have changed."

As the Racing Operations Officer, he brought structure to three greyhound clubs. During his tenure, Peter carried the title with great distinction and class, always going above and beyond the call of service during busy periods to always ensure everything ran smoothly.

Peter has been lucky to work with people like Gary Sutton, Richard Stamford, Peter Wesley, and Michelle Collis who helped him transition into the role as an outsider. Their guidance and expertise have been crucial in helping him manage the race clubs' operations.

"My position was established because Barry Lee retired as manager of Devonport, and the governing body at the time wanted someone to take on a statewide role. It stemmed from that, and I've had fantastic club and track staff who were all great to work with," Peter shared.

His brief involvement with the Australian Greyhound Racing Association, now Greyhound Clubs Australia opened the doors to meeting former high profile racing administrators such as Geoff "Smokey" Dawson, Marg Long and Ken Norquay and was certainly a highlight.

Peter has seen some of the greatest stars on the racetrack, including Buckle Up Wes, Brett Lee and Chinatown Lad, during their careers.

The support of his loving wife Angel, along with his children and grandchildren complimented his working life and made it truly enjoyable.

"Due to some health issues, I decided to retire, but I'll still be able to follow this wonderful industry with the same passion," Peter said.

"I've really missed being with my family, especially around the public holidays, but now I can finally unwind, relax, and step back."

Raider's Guide wins the Group 1 Sandown Cup

Raider's Guide emerged as Tasmania's greatest ever stakes earner after an impressive front-running display to claim victory in Victoria's Group 1 Sandown Cup Final (715m) on 23 May.

"Once he took the lead, the two favourites couldn't catch him."

Claiming his third Group 1 victory in a stellar career, Raider's Guide secured the $150,000 winner's cheque in Australia's premier staying event, boosting his earnings to $586,570 and surpassing the late Buckle Up Wes's total of $551,965.

The son of Zambora Brockie and Sacred Shadow has not only become the highest earner from the Apple Isle but also the only Tasmanian-bred greyhound to secure three Group 1 titles, with wins in the National Distance Championship and Rookie Rebel.

He has surpassed Chinatown Lad and Buckle Up Wes, who each claimed two Group 1 victories, further solidifying his place in history.

Tasmanian Hall of Fame trainer Gary Fahey was thrilled with the outstanding performance of his champion home-bred chaser.

"I don't think I'll get any sleep tonight—it's hard to top that!" said a thrilled Gary Fahey from home after the race.

"Once he took the lead, the two favourites couldn't catch him."

"Three Group 1 wins is incredible, and he has also secured second place in two other major races."

Raider's Guide claimed his 39th career victory in the Sandown Cup for Gary and his brother Greg Fahey, springing from box 5 with remarkable sectional splits, proving too strong to catch and leaving his competitors scrambling in an outstanding performance.

Lady Wilson and Pass Mark secured the minor placings, finishing 3-1/4 lengths behind with a time of 41.57 seconds.

Gary Fahey's daughter, Carol Martin, and his wife, Bev Fahey, have played vital roles with Raider's Guide traveling interstate.

"We'll never see another like him," Gary proudly declared about his exceptional Raider's Guide.

"Even if I never see another winner, I wouldn't mind, this has been the pinnacle."

"If he hadn't been such a calm, adaptable dog and a great traveler, we probably wouldn't have gone through with it."

Tasmania now boasts four Sandown Cups to its name, following the achievements of Wynlee Wonder, Chinatown Lad, and Bronski Beat.

The 80-year-old trainer from Mangalore has enjoyed numerous career highlights, but Raider's Guide has undoubtedly surpassed them all, cementing this victory and legacy into the rich history of Tassie racing folklore.
